TRAIN PLUNGED INTO ICY LAKE
AT GRAND ISLEScores of Frostbitten Passengers in Burlington Hospitals

MERCURY 33 BELOW ZERO

Sleeping Car Went Through Drawbridge into 30 Feet of Freezing Water

Burlington, Vt. Jan. 31.—More than a score of passengers were injured when three sleepers of the Rutland railroad train from Boston and New York were derailed at the Grand Isle drawbridge, 30 miles north of here early today.

One sleeping car went through the drawbridge into 30 feet of water, the other two remaining on the roadbed.

The passengers in the submerged sleeper were all immersed suddenly in the icy water, most of them clad only in night clothes with the mercury 30 degrees below zero.

Twenty-two persons were brought to hospitals and hotels in this city for treatment. All were suffering from cold and some were badly frostbitten, but otherwise no one was seriously injured.

The accident was caused by a split rail.

COASTING ACCIDENT

Double Runner Collides with Auto on Old Bennington Hill

Friday afternoon a double runner on which five boys were coasting collided with an Essex automobile driven by Benjamin Waldron on Old Bennington hill.

The automobile was run into the ditch from which it had to be hauled out. The double runner was smashed and two of the coasters, Alexander Drysdale and Robert Holden, were slightly injured.

The automobile was on its way to Old Bennington and the double runner was coming down the hill south of the old Catholic church. The car was quickly turned into the ditch near the house of Thomas H. Loran but not quickly enough to avoid a collision. The double runner struck the rear wheel of the automobile and the coasters were thrown into the road.

The spokes of the wheels in the Essex car probably prevented a more serious accident. Had the car been equipped with ordinary wheels some one of the coasters near the front of the double runner might have suffered broken limbs.

CONGRESS WILL EXTEND CREDIT FOR MORE RELIEF

Will Authorize Expenditure of $50,000,000

ARE TO INCLUDE AUSTRIA

England and France Not Inclined to Aid Former Enemy But United States Is Willing

Washington, Jan. 30.—Republican members of the House today formally agreed to favor legislation authorizing the treasury to extend additional credits of $50,000,000 to certain European countries for food relief.

The specific countries to benefit by the food credit will be decided upon at a later meeting of the majority members of the committee. Poland, Armenia and Austria were included in the original proposal of Secretary Glass, since supported in a letter from President Wilson, for credits of $150,000,000, later reduced to $125,000,000 by Mr. Glass.

After the informal agreement had been reached, Chairman Fordney called a meeting for tomorrow of the full committee to consider final action. Leading Democratic committee men, including Representatives Kitchin and Garner, who were among the first to suggest the $50,000,000 as a maximum authorization, are counted on by the Republican members to support the plan, which also has approval of some members of the Republican legislative steering committee.

While the countries to get the loans were not specified, some effort in this direction may be made at the ways and means committee meeting tomorrow. Proponents of the $50,000,000 fund suggested that amount primarily to relieve starvation in Austria, to supplement private charity to the Armenians and alleviate distress in Budapest.

Confidential information received by committee men through official channels was understood to be to the effect that European countries, including France and England, could not be expected to contribute to a relief fund for Austria, their inclination on being to aid Poland in its fight against the Russian Bolshevik government. Part of the fund's expected to afford some relief for Poland, it being pointed out by those who advocate limiting the relief of certain countries, that the requirements for Austria amount to $30,000,000, for Budapest $5,000,000, and Armenia $15,000,000 a month.

Besides finally deciding on the amount of the loans, the committee tomorrow must determine the method of administration, the general opinion being that it would be through the United States Grain corporation, which would be authorized to use its funds for buying food in the country. Profits of approximately $5,000,000 have been made by the corporation from its grain sales to Europe, according to information given the committee recently by Herbert Hoover.

SAMMARCO INDICTED
AS CLANCY'S SLAYER

Grand Jury Reports Boston Police Man Lost Life Through Gang Plot.

Boston, Jan. 31.—A special grand jury, yesterday returned an indictment charging Joseph Sammarco with the murder of Patrolman William G. Clancy. Police officials have stated they had evidence indicating that Clancy, who was shot while on duty at a dance a week ago, was killed as a result of a gang plot and two other men are now in jail charged with murder in connection with the killing. The jury, however, made no report on any person but Sammarco. The latter has confessed to the shooting, claiming the bullet was intended for another man.

Sammarco pleaded not guilty while arraigned on the indictment and the court set March first as the date for the trial.

MRS. ADELAIDE WORTHINGTON

Highly Respected Resident of North Village Died Friday.

Mrs. Adelaide Scrivens, widow of the late Elliot H. Worthington, passed away Friday afternoon, January 30 at the home of her son Edward J. Worthington in North Bennington.

Although for years she has many times been critically ill, her final sickness was of only a few days' duration—on Sunday last her frail body seemed to grow suddenly tired, and she gradually faded away.

Mrs. Worthington was born in Petersburg, N. Y., in 1848, and would have been 72 years of age in March. In 1879 she and her husband, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Louisa Scrivens, came to North Bennington to reside. Mr. Worthington died in 1891.

She is survived by four children all of whom were with her during her last hours—Mrs. H. A. White of North Bennington, Sanford E. Worthington of Fitchburg, Mass., and Mrs. Wm. Kipp and Edward J. Worthington of North Bennington; also five grandchildren.

Mrs. Worthington was a woman of unusual character, and has been for many years a wonderful example of patience under affliction. Ten years ago she became totally blind, but in a word of replying at her fate, as she might so easily have done, she went cheerily on in her usual sunny way.

Always expressing the belief that she was much better off than so many other suffering friends she knew, and never uttering a word of complaint. She was a sincere Christian woman, a wonderful mother, worshipped by her children, who left nothing undone that could in any way increase her comfort and happiness. Although of necessity a shut in for so long by reason of her great affliction, she had a wide circle of friends to whom her cheerful greeting was always an inspiration.

She became a member of the local Baptist church in 1906 and her funeral services will be held in that church on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The pastor Rev. F. M. Derwenter will officiate. The remains will be placed in the vault in Park Lawn cemetery Bennington, until spring when the interment will take place in Petersburg, N. Y.

EARL S. HARBOUR

Former Bennington Young Man Dies in Denver, Colo.

Earl S. Harbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant L. Harbour of this village died at 6:55 P. M. Friday evening in Denver, Colo., of pneumonia. He had been critically ill for several days. Although the members of the family and friends here had been hoping for a change that would indicate improvement in his condition, the telegram from the attending physician here at no time been assuring. His sister, Mrs. Maurice F. Ridd left here Thursday for Denver where she will arrive Sunday morning.

The deceased was born in Bennington 32 years ago. He graduated from the local high school with the class of 1906 and from Norwich university at Northfield in 1909. Soon after receiving his degree in engineering he entered the employ of one of the large western railroads and at the time of his death was connected with the valuation department of the United Pacific Railroad company with headquarters in Omaha, Neb. He was frequently sent to different points on the Union Pacific system and it was while on duty of this nature in Denver that he was stricken with influenza developing pneumonia.

When war was declared with Germany he was stationed in Los Angeles where he entered the service in the 4th division of engineers and was commissioned as lieutenant. After receiving his discharge he was at his home for a visit with his parents, leaving but a few weeks ago for Omaha.

Earl Harbour was one of the many thoroughly likable young men who have gone out from Bennington to take places for themselves in the "real world" and business life of the nation. He was industrious, rather seriously inclined, but exceptionally "companyable" and had made a reputation for efficiency with the big interests with which he had become associated. Here in Bennington and especially with the young men and women of his own age he had a large circle of friends who are deeply grieved to learn of his death. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved parents and sister in their deep affliction.

Mr. Ridd left on the noon train today for Omaha where he will meet Mrs. Ridd on her way east with the body.

CURIOUS THINGS IN MEXICO

Address on the Mexican Question at Sunday Forum.

Most Americans have their opinion on the Mexican question. But their opinions are not all in agreement. For the very good reason that the problem is a very involved one. There are many partisan, commercial and racial complications.

Would it not be well in all the conflict of ideas to understand the Mexican points of view? Would it not be well also to look farther into the question than the ordinary news comment or the speech of the politicians?

Perhaps some of the newspaper editors are right, perhaps some of our congressmen are uttering very good arguments. Who shall decide? Here comes a man who has studied the situation very carefully for himself. He is a student of such questions, and has investigated on his own account. Whether we shall think first to agree with him or not, his judgment is entitled to our great respect. And he represents a more thoughtful opinion in this country.

This man is Enoch F. Bell of Boston and he will speak at the Forum tomorrow night in the Second Congregational church. Be ready with your questions after the address. He will be glad to answer them, and this question period is the most interesting part of the Forum.

MEETING OF WOMEN WORKERS

Bennington and St. Albans Included in Massachusetts League

The Young Woman's club of Bennington will be represented by two delegates at a conference in Boston Sunday of the Massachusetts League of Women Workers. The local club and the young woman's club of St. Albans are members of the Massachusetts League as they are the only two clubs of their kind in Vermont. Miss Irene Davis and Miss Fidelity Elwell are the representatives of the Bennington organization who left today for Boston.

Prominent women will be the speakers at the meeting to be held at Copley Theatre on Sunday afternoon, (February 1st) at 3 o'clock, for the benefit of the Massachusetts League of Women Workers, the principal function of which is to organize community clubs for girls.

Tonight delegates from the 36 clubs belonging to the Massachusetts League of Women Workers will attend a banquet at the Hotel Vendome. This will begin at 6 p. m. and will be followed by the annual meeting of the organization. Girls will come to the meeting from all sections of Massachusetts.

The Saturday night and Sunday affairs will be the biggest of the kind that have ever been held in New England, and it is expected that the Copley Theatre will be filled to overflowing on Sunday. No charge is to be made for admission.

The real purpose of the Saturday night and Sunday meetings is to arrange a campaign to raise $30,000 needed for extending the work of girls' clubs. The 36 clubs of the League are located in cities, industrial towns and country villages. They vary in size from a small rural club of fifteen to the large Girls' City club of 8 Newbury St., Boston, numbering 1500. Most of them have club centers of their own or meeting in a community recreation center. These clubs are all self-governing. They operate on a non-sectarian community basis, drawing no racial or occupational lines, and in many instances, are wholly self-supporting. This type of self-governing club in which the girls help plan and carry out the club activities, and is responsible for the budget of the club expenses, gives to its members practice in self-government. The training of girls in a democratic self-governing way furnishes one very effective means of meeting the crying need of the reconstruction period—education in American democratic ideals.

Back of the present campaign to the interests of the League are many of Boston's best known men and women. The Sunday meeting will be addressed by Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, Mrs. George Minot Baker, President State Federation Women's Clubs, Miss Jean Hamilton, representing National League, Miss Margarette Spillman, representing W. Pennsylvania, and other speakers connected with the work of the League.

Fire Department Asks for Time to Select Successor

ANNUAL FRIDAY EVENING

Elmer Schultz Named First Assistant and William Hogan Second Assistant Engineer

Chief William Sears of the Bennington fire department made a strenuous effort Friday evening to throw up his job, after four years of service, but the boys objected just as strenuously and he was finally induced to remain in office until a special meeting could be called to fill the vacancy which "Bill" is bound to create. The chief said he had good personal reasons for wishing to retire but it was apparent that the members of the department were too well satisfied with his leadership to listen to any suggestion for a change. In the end the chief agreed to remain in office until some later day, probably until after the annual village meeting at which it is believed some action will be taken looking to a radical change in the department.

There were close to fifty members of the department present when President William P. Hogan called the annual meeting to order. Secretary Edward Shanahan read the minutes of the regular and special meetings which were approved.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand of $47.95 composed of contributions from each company and the gift from Edward H. Everett for services outside of the village limits.

The executive officials of the department were re-elected in short order: President, William P. Hogan; vice-president, William J. Loney; secretary, Edward Shanahan; treasurer, Warren Walter.

Chief Sears would have received a unanimous re-election but when he declined, action was postponed until after the assistant engineers had been chosen. Elmer Schultz and William Hogan made a close run for the office of first engineer and Mr. Schultz was elected. For second assistant there were two candidates, William Hogan and Roy Denley. Mr. Hogan was elected.

Letters, with contributions from property owners who either suffered losses or escaped from loss through the efforts of the firemen in the big fire originated at the Bennington garage and the fire at the branch plant of the Charles Cooper estate were read. The contributions amounted to $875. The letters have already been published in the Banner. It was voted that the money be equally divided among the different companies and the treasurer was instructed to draw a check payable to each organization for its share of the fund. The secretary was also instructed to write letters of acknowledgement to each of the contributors.

The report of the chief engineer showed that the garage had been ten fires in the village during 1919. The damage at the first nine fires totaled $509 but the loss created at the big garage fire which reached to adjoining property reached the sum of $67,500 with insurance of $45,712.25.

In closing his report, Chief Sears took occasion to thank the citizens of the village who donated money to the department, to express his appreciation of the work of the members of the department and the assistance afforded by the employees of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for their untiring efforts in forwarding calls when his services were required.
